New Software Revolutionizes Process for Tax Data Customization

Lenexa, KS, August 11, 2004: EZData™, a new software created by BillSoft®, Inc., now gives businesses the freedom to completely customize their tax data. This is the first time such a capability has been available to the general business community. The software was released for purchase on August 1, 2004.

EZData gives businesses the flexibility to completely customize their tax data to meet their operational needs. Companies can use the software to add or customize taxes, rates, jurisdictions, NPANXX mappings, and even zip code ranges. It also allows for the addition of wholly unique products and services specific to that company.

“For example, if you needed to add a ‘Jim Smith’ product tax, you could do that,” says Vicki Klein, President of BillSoft. “This software is completely flexible, in a way no other comparable products are on the market today. It can support even the most diverse businesses.”

The EZData system works through the Internet. Using a simple web application and BillSoft’s top-security website, businesses can log on and customize their tax data in any way they choose. In initial tests, customers enjoyed the convenience and ease of use.

“It’s a piece of cake to use,” says Klein. “It’s perfect for handling things like franchise agreements, or bleeding-edge technology. It gives you total control over your tax rates and types.”

EZData also flags businesses on recent tax changes that could affect their accounting procedures. The tax changes are identified by BillSoft’s team of tax research analysts, then sent to the customer for notification. Users can then accept or reject the new tax changes, based on their needs.

EZData can be used with an existing tax system, or as part of the BillSoft Total Tax Solution, which also includes tax rate calculation, tax research, address scrubbing, jurisdiction assignment, and tax
