We can manage your program of 30 patients or 30,000.

No matter how many patients you need for your specialized population, BBCI is ready to help. We take the weight off your shoulders by managing your study from beginning to end.

You have our full attention.

Changes always happen in a study. Our concentrated team of experts has the flexibility to accommodate your last-minute changes comfortably. In addition, the full attention of the executive staff at BBCI is only a phone call away to ensure that your needs are met.

Dedicated specialists in risk management

Our detailed risk management procedures ensure that you are in compliance with your late phase drug trial. Our data management systems and safety monitoring processes provide the rigor and documentation to position your product in the marketplace.

The right staff, when you need it

Whether you need expertise in risk management, pivotal programs, pediatric trials, or any of our other many specialties, we've got the right team for your trial, and they are ready to get to work immediately. BBCI wants to put our broad level of experience to work for you.
